

National Child Abuse Prevention Month

April is Child Abuse Prevention and Awareness Month

The Blue Ribbon Campaign began in 1989 when a grandmother from Virginia began wearing a blue ribbon as a tribute to her three-year old grandson who was the victim of child abuse. Wearing a blue ribbon during the month of April helps to raise awareness around violence against children and demonstrates your concern and commitment to support child abuse prevention and treatment programs like Kids-TALK Children's Advocacy Center. By wearing a blue ribbon, you are making a difference by spreading awareness, supporting Children's Advocacy Centers, and demonstrating your commitment to keep children safe!

Why Do We Plant Pinwheels?

The Pinwheels for Prevention campaign began in 2008 when Prevent Child Abuse America created a national effort to change the public's beliefs that child abuse and neglect can end through intervention and prevention.

Pinwheels are a national symbol of childhood and represent the vision for a world where all children grow up happy and healthy in supportive families and communities. Pinwheel campaigns are a reminder that the community plays a role in children's lives. We all can take action and become involved!
